

Houghton Department WILL ASSIST IN APPROPRIATION NICHOLS MAKES REPORT TO BOARD

Marine Interests Will Aid in Securing Money for Project

Special Prosecutor Presents Final Statement of Work Done

Secretary George L. Price of the Copper Country Commercial club has received several letters of late referring to the Princess point cut-off. The letters state that the leading marine interests will assist in obtaining the appropriation for continuing the work on this point as they are of the opinion that this proposed plan is of vital necessity.

Some time ago the board of engineers on rivers and harbors decided that it would be a wonderful extravagance to continue this work and the operations subsequently were ordered stopped. The members of the copper country club took up the fight to secure a reversal of decision and were finally rewarded by being informed that the work would be continued provided the necessary appropriation could be obtained. The directors and members of the local club are now interested in securing this appropriation and firmly believe that it can be accomplished if sufficient pressure is brought to bear.

It has been proven by captains of vessels which have sailed through the Portage canal that this point is dangerous and the sharp turn which is necessary to be made when rounding the peninsula is dangerous in calm weather as well as in a storm.

Henry Wineman, Jr., of the Lake Transportation Co., of Detroit, has written to Secretary Price as follows: "I was very glad to learn that the board of engineers on rivers and harbors has acted favorably in regard to the proposed cut-off at Princess point. I will do all in my power to assist in the work and will take the matter up with the marine who will, I am sure, give the question of securing this appropriation careful consideration in Washington."

A letter has also been received from D. Sullivan, of the D. Sullivan & Co. of Chicago, telling that this firm is interested in the movement and will do all in its power to aid the work. The following extracts has been taken from the letter because of its vital importance:

"Of course it will be necessary for the Michigan legislature to take a very active interest in this matter of securing the appropriation, but I will be glad to take it up with the Chicago congressmen and aid you in getting the necessary amount for continuing the work."

The Duluth Commercial club are also interested in securing the appropriation, which amounts to about $125,000. Captain Alex. McMillan, a veteran sailing master who is now at the head of the lake, will also give his aid in the matter. He has a thorough understanding of the necessity of continuing the work and his help should be of material advantage to the question.

The Wood Working Plants. Secretary Price has received a letter from heads of a large wood working factory stating that they will consider the matter of building in the copper country. The following letter was received:

"The cedar in about cleared up in this district and we are contemplating some other line of work, either a veneer plant or an excelsior mill. There is a lack of lumber here and this is the material from which we make our chief product, wood-wood. I would like to know of the prospects of securing good wood, veneer, lumber, or excelsior, and what help to the copper country. My requirements are: wood which will make the best grade of veneer. Please advise us as to whether there is an adequate supply in your district to meet our needs."

The secretary then advised the secretary of the plant that wood of this nature is very plentiful in the copper country and although some wood is now found in the copper district.

TAKE SODA IF FOOD SOURS IN ACID STOMACH

A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion is nearly always due to acidity and sourness—and this is most often due to a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation, then our meals sour like garbage in a can, burning acid fluids and gases which irritate the stomach like a hot bath. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we experience sour food, belch gas or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash, or nausea.

He tells us to get a package of 10 small sachets called from any pharmacy and swallow one tablet anytime followed by a tumbler of water, which instantly neutralizes these acids, stops food fermentation, absorbs the gases and restores the entire digestive system.

This suggestion should prove valuable to stomach sufferers here who can't draw their indigestion to acidity. A local druggist is the authority that these tablets are entirely harmless being composed of Soda, Magnesia, and Calcium Carbonate. U. S. P.—Advert.

STATE TO OPEN A NEW SCHOOL

Teachers' Training Establishment
at Lapeer to Be Ready July 6

Michigan training school for teachers of exceptional children will open July 6 at Lapeer for a six weeks' term, according to announcements just made.

This school will be the fourth of its kind in the United States, the object being to instruct some of the state's brightest teachers in the methods of teaching the backward pupil.

The instructors will be: H. A. Hayes of Lapeer, medical superintendent of the Michigan Home and Training school at Lapeer; C. S. Berry, of Ann Arbor, assistant professor of education at the University of Michigan; Frank Cody, assistant superintendent of Detroit schools and member of the state board of education; and Fred L. Keeler, of Lansing, superintendent of public instruction. Among the lecturers from out of the state will be Henry H. Goddard, psychologist and head of the foremost school of this kind in the country, located at Vineland, N. J.

Accommodations will be provided for not more than 20 teachers and it is probable that at least half of these will be from Detroit. A charge of $60 for board and room will be made at the home.

That the instruction of exceptional children is a growing problem in Detroit is indicated by the fact that at present 204 are being taught in special schools, while 100 are waiting for a place to be provided for instruction and 40 are excluded. At the same time, the cramped school accommodations confine 10,000 pupils to half day sessions.

When informed by the reporter that the building was nearly as large as the Houghton public library, the superintendent said:

"If such is the case, I think favorably of the building as the location for a public library. It is to my mind the only centrally located building which we can use at present. If it is as large as stated I feel it would do nicely."

ADDITIONAL HANCOCK

BANK FOR A LIBRARY.

Superintendent Lee of Hancock Schools Speaks on the Subject.

Since one of Hancock's prominent citizens has suggested that the building formerly occupied by the First National Bank be used as a public library, other citizens have expressed their opinion on the matter. When interviewed this morning, Supt. H. D. Lee of the Hancock public schools gave out the following statement:

"I have not inspected the interior of the building proposed as a location for a public library, but as far as my knowledge extends in this matter I think it would be an excellent place for such an institution. The building is centrally located and this is a factor in favor of its being used for library purposes."

When informed by the reporter that the building was nearly as large as the Houghton public library, the superintendent said:

"If such is the case, I think favorably of the building as the location for a public library. It is to my mind the only centrally located building which we can use at present. If it is as large as stated I feel it would do nicely."

OPERA PLEASANT MANY.

Large Crowd Attend "The National Flower" Last Evening.

A capacity audience was present at the Keredge theatre last evening when "The National Flower," was produced by the students of the grades of the Hancock public schools. The farce-comedy was a success in every respect and the attendants were liberal in their praise of the work of the little folks.

To Miss Harriet Petrie, supervisor of music in the Hancock schools, much credit is due for the success of the opera. Miss Petrie has worked unceasingly in preparation for the staging of the production and the success of her work manifested itself last evening.

About two hundred children took part in the opera and all handled their various parts with ability. The story of the play was highly interesting, telling of the arguments presented in the selecting of a national flower.

should not go into the record. Continuing he said:

"I think a witness should not introduce any citizen nor should any one come on the stand and stigmatize public officials. The character and reputation of men may be prejudiced by such testimony."

Congressman Casey agreed.

The witness was cross-examined by Attorney Lawton. It developed that he signed an affidavit, which was published in the Congressional Record of Jan. 20, to the effect that a "get out of here you" — It developed that this deputy was William Oxman, under whom the witness was employed for three years. He was asked how long he knew Oxman. He replied, three years.

Q—You knew him all this time and he had never mis-used you before, and you want to tell this committee he struck you?

A—Yes.

The witness, replying to Congressman Switzer in regard to the affidavit, said that if he made the assertion in the sworn statement that men, women and children were present when the shots were being fired he desired to correct it now. He made this request after it was shown that his testimony this morning differed from that in his affidavit.

Congressman Switzer asked the witness if he ever conferred with the prosecuting attorney about the arrest of Oxman, or if he ever sought a warrant for his arrest. He replied in the negative.

Q—Do you intend to prosecute him?

A—Yes.

Q—Why haven't you begun the proceedings?

A—I don't know.

Chairman Taylor asked:

"Is he afraid he will get hit over the head if he tries to prosecute?"

"Attorney Pettermann objected to the question. The chairman replied that it was put to the witness to expedite the proceeding, and he remarked that the cross-examination was consuming too much time.

Congressman Switzer interposed with an objection to his being interrupted while he was questioning the witness. Congressman Casey came to the front with the same objection. Congressman Switzer resumed.

Q—State how the affidavit you had sworn to was interpreted to you and by whom?

A—Bert Milano.

Considerable discussion on hearsay statements by the witness ensued, and Congressman S. M. Taylor, in his first expression since he sat on the committee, said:

"I insist the committee has a right to control the scope and character of testimony, and all the chairman has to do is to make a ruling and it will either be sustained or overruled."

Alleges Search by Deputies.

Mrs. Tuomela, who conducted a boarding house at Painesdale on Dec. 11 told of her home being searched by deputies, who she said possessed no warrant. She said things had been broken open and whatever the deputies wanted they took away. However, she said she saw no one take anything. Various articles were missing after the deputies left the house. She said the reason she did not see anything stolen was because she was locked out of the room.

The next witness was Fred Lalieu of Allouez. He said that on Dec. 15 at 5 o'clock in the morning a party of deputies, two of whom were Walter and Peter Murphy, came into his house and demanded that he throw up his hands and then searched the room. He said they read no warrants to him. After searching the house he said they ordered him to go to a hay barn, where several of the deputies with guns pointed at his head made him piten two tons of hay, while others were searching for guns. He said they were never arrested.

In the cross-examination it developed that the witness was boarding with his brother-in-law, Andrew Pietala, secretary of the union.

Congressman Switzer took the witness.

Q—Did you ever file a complaint against these men?

A—No.

Q—Did you ever consult an attorney or request the district attorney to prosecute the men who compelled you to work in this manner?

A—No.

Q—Do you intend to make a complaint charging them with assault?

A—Yes.

Q—How soon will you make this complaint?

A—I cannot say.

Q—Why did you not have them arrested before now?

A—I don't know.

Q—Do you intend to see the district attorney about it?

A—Yes.

Q—Why have you not done that already?

A—I had no time.

The witness inferred that he did not think the matter to be of sufficient importance to begin action to prosecute his assailants.

Chairman Taylor asked the congressman his object in this line of inquiry.

Switzer replied: "I want to see if the courts are open for redress. They claim they can't get justice in the courts and can't obtain justice before a jury."

Switzer asked the witness if he believed he could get justice in a suit against the men who searched his house. The witness said he couldn't say. Switzer was unable to get anything more intelligible out of him. "Well, let it go," he observed.

Copper City Witnesses.

Mike Stimach, of Copper City, was at his home on January 5, in bed, he said. Deputies called at 11 o'clock, but he refused to open the door. His baby was sick and he stated that he was afraid to open the door. They insisted on entering and he finally let them in. He gave them his gun and then they searched the house.

Mr. Pettermann took the witness.

Q—Did they show you the warrant?

A—Yes.

Q—Did they tell you what it was for?

A—Yes.

Mr. Pettermann developed the fact that the witness was given a receipt for his shot gun. To Attorney Mac Cormack he said there was shooting around there that day and "all the time."

George Maltick, of Copper City, next gave his version, through an interpreter, of what occurred on Jan. 3. He lived in the Stimach house and went down stairs to see what was going on. He testified that he had no gun, and in spite of his protests they went upstairs, where his wife lay ill, and searched the place.

When cross-examined by Attorney Pettermann he said he was not a citizen. He said he did not see any search warrant. Attorney McCormack questioned him briefly, and he stated he heard no shooting.

Trumountain Woman Testifies.

Anna Dwyer, of Trumountain told about a visit from six deputies who took her by the arm and displayed a revolver and ordered her to come with them. Her children came crying from the house and they fired a revolver close to her ear.

"I didn't know whether there were men in my yard at that time, or whether there were some chased in there by the deputies or not. None of us asked the deputies what they were chasing through the yard for. I think they were Waddell men because they were blager men than the deputy sheriffs. I did not see any stars on them. I told my husband about the affair, but never complained to a justice of the peace."

Hilton protested to the repetition of question and the witness was excused.

To Await Major Pepper.

Chairman Taylor made a statement regarding his request for Gov. Peirce's presence, or the attendance of an attorney representing the state. He read a telegram to the governor, in which he said he could not mention specications regarding charges in connection with the National Guard. The governor wired back that Major Samuel W. Pepper would arrive here Friday evening to represent the National Guard. He was here during the strike.

"It seems to me the governor is rather prodigal with our time," said Chairman Taylor.

"That will take another day," said Hilton, "as we could not take the matter up until Saturday."

Mr. Pettermann said Major Pepper could not get here before Friday night providing he left Lansing this morning.

"Under the circumstances we will wait for the major," said Chairman Taylor.

Other Witnesses Heard.

Matt Pulkkinen, of Painesdale, said that on Dec. 8 he was searched. Answering Mr. Howell's questions he said he came here three years ago to work in the mine but was not under any contract. The witness could not give the name of any of the men who searched him and he had not seen any of them lately.

Switzer and Casey both asked questions about the search, and in answering these questions it was brought out that he did not see any stars on the men.

Matt Pulkkinen, a resident of Painesdale on Dec. 8, stated that on that date deputies called at his house. They refused to close the door, and Pulkkinen said nobody in the house had any clothes on and he was afraid the children would suffer from the cold. His house was then searched and the trunks opened. He went into lengthy detail in regards to the searching of his home.

When cross-examined by Attorney Pettermann the witness said he was in the cream business. He also stated that he belonged to the Western Federation of Miners and had worked in the mine seventeen years ago. He knew nothing about the loss of money complained of by a girl in his home except what she told him.

John Lovinskensky, a Pole living in Painesdale, said that on Dec. 25 he suffered from a beating given him by deputies. On cross-examination he said that he was parading when he was beaten up. He stated he was taken to jail, searched and 25 cents was taken from him.

Tyomies Manager on Stand.

The first witness at the opening of the afternoon session was John Nummivirta, business manager of the Tyomies Publishing Co. He testified that his company's plant, located in Hancock, was worth $80,000 and that on Dec. 19th he had been advised by telephone that the plan would be raided. He stated that afternoon several automobiles, loaded with gun men, deputy sheriffs and members of the Citizens' Alliance, passed the building, pointed revolvers at it, and yelled: "We will soon be back to clean out this place."

"The situation was critical," the witness said, "and with the president of the company I went over to Houghton and asked the sheriff of the county to furnish protection for the plant. He admitted that the times were critical and that he would give us protection, but he did not do so."

The witness was questioned by his own attorney, Mr. Christianson of Chicago.

Mr. Pettermann asked him what was the purpose of this inquiry, and Christianson said it was to show that the sheriff did not give protection when it was applied for which indicated an unequal administration of justice when the opposition applied for it.
